Dollar Days-- May 21 and 23

Bargains will be Offered by Every Store in Town.

Saturday and Monday, May 21 and 23 will be "Dollar Days" in Didsbury. The merchants are co-operating to make this the biggest bargain feature that has ever been held in Didsbury, and without doubt the buying public will take the opportunity offered to obtain bargains in every store and it is expected that the largest number of shoppers will be in town during these two big days.

Not only will dollar specials be offered, but every store will have bargains in all their lines.

On Saturday afternoon, the 21st a community auction sale will be held on Main Street, and anyone having goods for sale should see Auctioneer Phillipson.

The next issue of the "Pioneer" will be a Dollar Day Edition and the merchants will advertise the specials they have to offer. Copies will be mailed free to all residents of the district.

Be sure and come to Didsbury on Saturday and Monday, May 21st and 23rd.

New Manager For Atlas Lumber Yard

Mr. A. A. Wallace, together with his family, arrived on Monday, from Admiral, Sask., to take over the management of the Atlas Lumber Co.'s yard here.

Mr. Wallace has had a wide experience in the lumber business and has been in the employ of the Atlas Lumber Co. since 1920. For the last four years he has had charge of the company's yard at Admiral, Saskatchewan and previously had charge of yards at Salfeld, Antelope and Walbeck.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace will reside in the house lately occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Dooley.

Novel Contest.

The Builders' Hardware Co. is conducting a novel "Lucky Key" contest this next week. With every 60¢ purchase, the customer receives a key, and in the bunch of keys there are two which will open a displayed lock. The first person bringing a key that will open the lock, will receive free, a boy's wagon, valued at $7.50, or their best dog and sulky.

The lucky keys will be placed in sealed envelopes and mixed with other keys in similar envelopes by Mr. J. H. Lowrie, manager of the Royal Bank.

All the keys are returnable, and Builders' Hardware will pay 1 cent each for all keys returned. See their advt. on the front page.

LOCAL & GENERAL

Mr. H. O. Tonjium was a visitor to Elmore Sunday.

Mr. W. D. Archer shipped a carload of cattle to Calgary Monday.

Mr. E. G. Frost will occupy the pulpit at Knox United Church on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Reiber will attend the funeral of Mr. N. Holmes in Calgary today (Thursday).

Bert Cressman is back from his homestead on the Raven River for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Ranton, Miss Dorothy Ranton and Miss Mae Royds were Calgary visitors Wednesday.

Mr. Harry Taylor, forestry officer at Rocky Mountain House, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Halton.

Halliday's Cash Grocery are offering some great values on May 21st and 23rd. See next week's advertisement.

Mr. W. McFarquhar paid a visit to Innisfail on Sunday. Bill says golfing was good and that the course was real sporty.

Messrs. C. H. Adshead, Eddie Ford and Percy Lunt attended a General Motors service meeting in Calgary Monday.

Mr. W. J. McCoy who has a contract for graveling the highway south of Calgary spent a few days at his home here last week end.

A general change of trains in the C.P.R. time-table went into effect Sunday, May 1st. To acquaint yourself with the arrival of the six passenger trains at Didsbury daily except Sunday, study the local time-table in paper, which appears weekly, for correct information.

Olds is arranging a big day for the 24th May, and they promise even more attractions than in previous years. The pet's parade will open the proceedings in the morning, followed by a football game between Olds and Calgary Tigers. In the afternoon there will be all kinds of athletic events and a baseball tournament. The Calgary Girls' Pipe Band has been engaged as an added attraction.

Andrew Alpaugh was found dead with his neck broken by the side of the road Friday forenoon, eight miles north of Gadsby. He left home on horseback to drive a bull to market at Gadsby and it is presumed his horse threw him. Alpaugh is an old timer of Alberta, arriving from the Hannah district. He was employed on the Stinson farm. He was one of the cowboys who worked on the Coburn Ranch north-east of Didsbury in the early days.

W. C. T. U. Convention

The Wednesday morning session of the W.C.T.U. was opened with devotional exercises by Mrs. (Rev.) Fisher of Olds. The yearly reports from the different Unions showed many worthy activities, and much Christian work accomplished. "We are not discouraged, for our faith is in the Lord," was the key-note of all reports. The report of the Didsbury Y.P.U. was particularly interesting. These girls are receiving a wonderful training for Christian work and service. Mrs. Strong, of Olds, who is eighty-two years old and has been the treasurer of that Union for the past eighteen years, was honored by Convention by being called to the platform.

The election of officers and superintendents for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, Mrs. D. A. Halliburton, Red Deer. Vice-Pres., Mrs. H. M. Reiber, Didsbury. Cor. Sec., Mrs. J. I. Poole, Wetaskiwin. Rec. Sec., Mrs. T. E. Armstrong, Olds. Treasurer, Mrs. M. High, Red Deer. Superintendent of Scientific Temperance, Mrs. C. J. Hallman, Didsbury. Sunday Schools, Mrs. F. W. Gaez, Red Deer. L.W.R.'s, Mrs. S. Shantz, Didsbury. Medal Contests, Mrs. J. Devenport, Leslieville.

The afternoon session was opened with devotional exercises by Mrs. F. W. Gaez of Red Deer. A splendid paper by Mrs. P. A. Stewart, of Olds, on "How to meet the growing menace of Narcotics," brought to the attention of the delegates the insidious efforts of the profiteers in the traffic to fasten these habits on our young people. "Radio messages from other lands," by Mrs. J. I. Poole of Wetaskiwin was very encouraging, and brought both encouraging and discouraging messages regarding temperance conditions abroad.

A duet, "Whispering Hope," by Mrs. J. Shantz and Mrs. Traub, was much enjoyed. Miss R. Froul acted as accompanist. An invitation from Wetaskiwin Union to hold the next District Convention there was received with applause.

In a brief inspirational talk, Mrs. White, the Prov. President urged the members to be informed on liquor conditions in their own Province. Quoting from the Gov't. report, she brought forth the interesting fact that the Gov't. must expend $14,000,000 in order to make Mountain View M.D.

Lowens Mill Rate

Set Mill Rate at 7½ Mills.

A reduction in taxes was decided on at the meeting of the Mountain View Municipality held at Olds on Saturday last.

The mill rate for municipal purposes was set at 7½ mills. This is a reduction of 1½ mills, the rate for last year being 9 mills.

The estimates were brought down and showed that 7½ mills will produce $31,197.55 in taxes. It is proposed to expend $19,000 on road building and maintenance.

The secretary reported that appropriation for seed and relief had been comparatively light, and that seed amounting to $564.20 has been supplied.

The usual grant of $200.00 to the Salvation Army was approved.

A letter of inquiry from the Dept. of Public Works, asking for bridge requirements was read, and the secretary instructed to forward a list of bridges that needed inspection.

Other matters of routine were discussed and a number of accounts and pay sheets were approved.

WEDDING.

SUTHERLAND-TOWLE.
A quiet wedding was held in Calgary last Thursday when Mr. Joe Sutherland, who resides on the Little Red, west of Didsbury, was married to Mrs. Towle, Hamattan.

A profit of $1,000,000. She also reminded the delegates that as the beer parlors had been the gift of our Gov't. (the majority vote was for Gov't. control) the gift could be withdrawn without the vote of the people. She urged all workers to stand firm and face the foe.

A vote of thanks from the Convention was extended the Rev. H. J. Wood and the official board of the convention church, as well as the board of the United Church where the banquet was held. The school children, musicians and others who assisted in the program, the Provincial President for her presence and inspirational address and assistance, the hostesses and any who had helped to make the convention a success.

The Cult Of Bigness

Every time the census of population of the country is taken a number of controversies arise because some towns and cities feel they are actually "bigger" than the work of the census enumerators shows them to be. The officials of these places feel themselves aggrieved, their newspapers protest and their boards of trade propose the taking of another and independent census to establish the truth or falsity of the official figures. All because the town or city wants to be "big," bigger than some other town or city it regards as a rival.

Yet bigness in population is not, in itself, necessarily a good thing. It is not a mark of excellence. Bigness is not greatness, although it is too frequently confused as such. Bigness may, indeed, be a weakness rather than a source of strength. The big city is not a friendly city; it is not a cheap place in which to live, but an expensive place; its pleasures are not of the soul-satisfying kind, but rather tend to the superficial and hectic; it has certain advantages, it is true, but they are, as a rule, out-weighed by many more and greater disadvantages. Nevertheless, every town and city is disappointed if each succeeding census does not reveal to itself and the world that it is "bigger."

This desire for bigness seems to be ingrained in our human make-up. We want a bigger house, although the smaller one in which we live is easy and comfortable and fully adequate to our needs, and can be maintained at much less cost. We want a bigger car, although we really do not require it and cannot well afford the extra cost to purchase and meet the heavier bills for its operation and upkeep. Instead of being content with that which actually satisfies our needs, we envy another solely because what he has is "bigger" than what we have.

"This far from sensible worship of bigness has led many a fellow and who find themselves in acute difficulty today because what they have is bigger than they need and therefore ought to have. The farmer with a quarter or half section yearns for a bigger farm and so he bought more land until he had a section or two sections. Today, as he sees many of his neighbors with the smaller holdings getting along while he is in trouble, he is less sure about the value of bigness. Today the city man with a large house and a large car is inclined to wish both were of smaller dimensions. The owner of these big things is coming to realize that they also mean something else on a big scale, that is, big expense, big liabilities, big debts.

A big man physically is not necessarily a strong man nor a healthy one. It is not the biggest flowers that are the most beautiful and the most fragrant, nor the biggest apple or peach that is the juiciest or more luscious to the taste. It is not the biggest starting that is the most exquisite and wonderful, nor the biggest look that contains the most poetry or most extraordinary story. Bigness, in itself, is a delusion and a sham.

And after all, what does more bigness bring in its train? The bigger a city, the bigger its problems and the bigger its costs of administration. The bigger a man's fortune, the bigger the load of responsibility he has to carry, but not bigger the happiness he enjoys. The German Kaiser wanted a big army and a big navy, and they cost him his throne. It is the bigger ships, the bigger hotels, the bigger office buildings, the bigger businesses that are having the hardest struggle today because they cannot cut their overhead expenses sufficiently to meet present conditions, while those of the smaller class are riding through the storm of this depression.

Why do we all clamor for bigness? The vast majority of us must always fill only a very small place in the world. But it is not infinitely better to fill that place well, to be held in esteem and loved a bit, in our small home and home town, than to be a cipher in a big city? Is it not in the so-called small things of life, in the narrow confines of our own home circle, that we find the real joys and the great satisfactions of life, rather than in those things which so frequently, but incorrectly, are termed big?

Think it out for yourself the next time you are inclined to feel discontented and envious of the other fellow who has something that, on the face of it, appears bigger than what you have. Perhaps, if you only knew the whole story, he would gladly exchange places with you.

Receives Little Help

Bill. Of Great Britain's Payments Raised By Taxation

In a recent issue the Saturday Evening Post made the assertion that the bill for Great Britain's payments to America have been met by collections from other nations. They have not come out of taxation levied at home.

That statement is at variance with the facts. Only a few days ago President Hoover's Macdonald stated that Great Britain's total payments to the United States have amounted to $224,500,000, and that Britain's total receipts from debts and reparations have come to $195,000,000. There is thus a gap of some $29,500,000 which has to be filled from the pockets of the British taxpayers. Halifax Herald.

Russian Polar Expedition Seeking New Points To North America

A Russian Polar Expedition, seeking a new air route from Russia to North America, will be sent out on the famed ice-breaker, "Krasin" next summer, it was announced at Leningrad.

The icebreaker, which participated in the diabolical "Itala" rescue, will start its air route when it starts northward in an effort to penetrate the Arctic ice fields between the 82nd parallel.

From the point, which the ice-breaker is able to reach, the airplanes will be sent out to explore possible air routes across the Polar wastes to North America. The expedition is scheduled to remain in the Polar ice all next winter.

Potsdam Engineer

Constructs Queer Boat

Craft Equipped With Powerful Motor and Resembles Whale

Nicholas Bellin, 28-year-old engineer of Potsdam, Germany, has built a boat, resembling a whale with an airplane motor atop of the tail, which he says he believes can span the ocean between Liverpool and New York in less than three days.

The craft is equipped with a 270-horse-power motor, which Bellin said would give it a speed of 62 miles an hour. After testing the boat this spring, he said, he would attempt a trip around the world, travelling east. He estimated it would take him 15 days.

New-Fashioned Method

Treatment Nowadays For Colds More Like a Vacation

There's only one nice thing about colds: Nowadays we don't torture ourselves with old-fashioned remedies, specifically hot foot-baths, inhalations under a cloth and burial under a ton of bed clothes.

We simply recline in bed, peruse frivolous magazines, doze when we feel like it, and have our meals brought to us in invalid hours.

In short, two-cold a year, has come to mean two extra vacations a year. It's an ill wind, etc.

Most people, however, fancy other breathing spells.

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Sufferers From Indigestion CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble," dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, and flatulence, these are the first to be chronic and stomach," says Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Aspin.

Having indigestion and acid stomachs is the stomach of an alarming rate. The acid irritates and causes the delicate stomach lining, and often leads to gastritis or stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with bitter, or artificial stimulants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the more ferocious food out of the stomach into the circulation.

In food stimulants or even your stomach, and with a little Aspin, you will digest naturally. There is nothing better for indigestion and acid stomach. Your stomach acts as a clock. In just a few minutes, indigestion, gas, and flatulence are relieved. Aspin is a safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use. It is not a medicine and is not an expensive.

Safe Hours For Motorists

The hour of the week during which you can drive your automobile with the least chance of having a fatal accident is Tuesday between four and five a.m. and the time of greatest risk is on Sunday afternoon, between six and seven, according to statistical study by an insurance company.

The Terror Of Asthma comes like a thief in the night with its dreadful, throttling, robbing its victim of breath. It comes beyond the power of human will to relieve, until the trial is made of that remarkable preparation, Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Aspin Remedy. Then relief comes with a rush. Life becomes worth living, and if the remedy be used persistently, the asthma is put permanently to rest. Take no substitute.

Create War Impression

Children In Russia Taught That Clash With Other Nations Is Inevitable

The impression is being created in Russia that war with some other power at some time is inevitable. The children are being taught the strength and resources of the Red Army; and, while it is hoped that war will not occur, if it comes the Red Army is ready.

The above statements were made by Miss Jennie Lee, who was one of the youngest members of the British House of Commons before her defeat at the last election. Miss Lee was the luncheon speaker before the Ottawa Canadian Club. Having visited and toured extensively in Russia, she chose for her subject "The New Generation in Russia." The audience which she addressed included Premier R. B. Bennett and W. L. Mackenzie King, leader of the opposition.

Adepts At Lip-Reading

Workmen In Automobile Plants Talk To Each Other Easily

The ease with which workmen in some departments of the great automobile plants make themselves heard above the incessant and deafening noises of pounding processes and ponderous hammers is always a source of amazement to visitors. Few of them know it is all done by lip-reading and by becoming accustomed to the bedlam. After a comparatively short time, the workmen can talk in ordinary tones without raising their voices and still understand each other.

DRAPERIES MADE NEW

"When we resumed housekeeping a month ago I found my draperies had become creased from packing. I hung them out on the line, hoping to remove the creases. Then I forgot them. The result was they became badly faded and sun-spotted."

"I was heart sick until the happy thought struck me to dye them. I just dyed them a deeper green, and as I used Diamond Dyes they look gorgeous and new. I have never seen easier dyed to use than Diamond Dyes. They give the most beautiful colors, when used either for tinting or dyeing, and never take the life out of cloth as other dyes do."

When You CAN'T QUIT

Fatigue is the signal to quit. Give it if you can. When you can't, keep cool and carry on in comfort.

Aspirin was meant for just such times, for it gives you the comfort and freedom from those pains that nag at nerves and wear you down. One tablet will knock that threatening headache while it is still just a threat. Take two or three tablets when a grumbling tooth or aching headache while it is still just a threat, and that's usually the end of it.

Carry Aspirin tablets when you travel. Have some at home and keep some at the office. Like an efficient secretary, they will often "save the day" and spare you many uncomfortable, unsatisfactory, Aspirin is harmless, so keep it handy, keep it in mind, and use it. No man of affairs can afford to ignore the score and more of uses explained in the proven directions. From a grumbling tooth to those rheumatic pains which seem almost to bend the house, Aspirin tablets are ready with quick relief—and always work. Neuralgia, Neuritis, Any nagging, needless pain.

Get the genuine tablets, stamped with the Bayer cross. They are of perfect purity, absolute uniformity, and have the same action every time. Why experiment with imitations costing a few cents less? The saving is too little. There is too much at stake. But there is economy in the purchase of genuine Aspirin tablets in the large bottles.

Experiments Now In Progress May Result In Production Of Plants Of Greater Food Value

Wheat, cabbage and turnips may soon be found only in backward countries and minuscule, or grown as plant curiosities, if some of the entirely new plants now being produced by scientists are found to have greater food value.

For hundreds of thousands of years man has been content to accept the plants that nature gave him. Now and then nature in a sportive mood would cross plants and produce something new and better adapted for or giving a greater yield than either of the parent plants, but now scientists have found how by crossing to produce not merely new varieties but plants beginning a new genus.

Dr. W. E. Thompson, of the Department of Biology, University of Saskatchewan, recently returned from the University of Minnesota where he gave a series of lectures on cytology and genetics to graduate students there, and has enumerated some of the new discoveries in plant breeding.

In the wheat family a plant has been produced by E. Tschermak, of Vienna, in which each plant cell seen under the microscope has 56 chromosomes. In the wheat family everything runs in multiples of 14.

The wild wheat that grew around the shores of the Mediterranean hundreds of thousands of years ago, and that still grows there shows under the microscope 14 chromosomes in each plant cell. After many thousands of years nature by some crossing or doubling up produced a wheat with 28 chromosomes, the Durum or Macaroni wheat.

Again in an inventive mood nature probably crossed this Durum wheat with a 14 chromosome plant, possibly the wild aeolopsis and made a 42 chromosome wheat, the parent of all our bread wheats. Now this scientist at Vienna has crossed bread wheat with aeolopsis and got a plant with 56 chromosomes. Whether it will be a better food plant than our bread wheat does not yet appear but it is quite within the bounds of possibility.

At Denmark they are interested in sweet and turnips and a scientist there, O. Winge, has crossed them and secured a new kind of plant (cruciferae). The cross is to chromosomes and the turnip (cruciferae) has 18. The new plant has 28.

At Moscow, cabbages and radishes both go into the "borstch" but G. D. Karpechenko has a new plant with a chromosome number the sum of both of these. It may be a better soup plant than either.

A special word should be given to the work of Arne Malmberg, of Landskrona, Sweden, who was trying experiments with plants of the mint family. He crossed two distinct species and got a third species which was already a common plant, but not previously known to be so closely related.

Britain's Public Roads

There are 177,250 miles of public roads in Great Britain, according to the Ministry of Transport. It would be necessary to drive 162 miles daily for three years in order to cover every mile of highway under Government supervision. (The last day of all you could take it easy, as you would only have to cover 28 miles).

Turn To Agriculture

Back To The Land Movement Live Issue In Ontario

The "back to the land movement" in Ontario would receive added impetus if a series of recommendations formulated by a subcommittee are adopted by the agricultural and colonization committee of the Ontario Legislature and approved by the House.

The report presented to the main committee recommended:

1. Bonusing of settlers for acreage cleared and needed.
2. Immediate survey of vacant farms in Ontario.
3. Publication of the results of the survey in Canada and Great Britain.
4. Eventual establishment of a distinct department of colonization under a deputy minister.
5. Establishment of "back-to-the-land" farming districts where prospective settlers would live while preparing the land.
6. The doubling of Ontario's cultivated acreage by a concentrated back to the land movement.

Value Of Livestock

Statistics For Canada Show Value For 1931 Much Lower Than Previous Year

The value of farm live stock in Canada in 1931 aggregated $408,200,000, as compared with $457,225,000 in 1930, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports in an annual review.

Ontario with an aggregate value of $174,000,000, as compared with $218,305,000 was the leading province. Quebec was second with total values of $88,473,000, and Saskatchewan third, $76,213,000. The live stock in Manitoba was valued at $30,325,000 and Alberta, $67,229,000.

The total value of all descriptions of farm poultry is estimated at 42,135,000 last year against $54,852,000 in 1930. Ontario also heads the list at $15,551,000 compared with $22,794,000 in the previous year.

Quebec Farmer Has Initiative

Built School In Isolated Bush Country For His Children

The problem of providing an education to a family of fourteen children living in the bush in complete isolation has been solved by a French-Canadian farmer, Theophile Soucy, who built and furnished his own private school and then appointed himself as school commissioner to educate a teacher. The Quebec Government, recognizing his initiative, granted him a small subsidy.

Many miles from Stomham village, north of Quebec city on the road leading to Lacantec, National Park, Soucy's little schoolhouse can be found. The seating capacity at its opening was six but since then desks have been ordered on the average of one every year.

LIFE IS GLORIOUS AND GAY
WHEN SISTER WEARS THIS DARING DRESS

Who wouldn't be won over instantly by its charm and "education"? It is just the last word in chic as its originator, fashioned of brown cretonne fabric crepe with lace trim. It's a splendid dress for simpler "beats".

For party wear, when this cute model can be delightfully carried out in tulle, she'll love it, if you choose the "Lorraine-pink" shade. Finish the round neck and sleeves with a full of pleated chiffon that tones with the silk. The pleating can be bought already at any of the trimming counters.

And it's so inexpensive in copy it. Style No. 879 is designed in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 10 requires 2 1/2 yards of 36-inch with 1 1/2 yards lace.

Price of pattern 25 cents in stamps or coin order is preferred. Write coin currency.

Says Churchill Port Will Be Great Factor In The Return Of Prosperity To Western Canada

Churchill, western Canada's new port on the Hudson Bay, was lauded as a northern industrial centre, a great ocean port and as a factor in bringing the west out of the hole it is now in, in addresses given by Gen. R. W. Patterson and Hon. D. G. McKeen before the Ontario-Hay Association at Moose Jaw.

Gen. Patterson and Mr. McKeen spoke at a banquet held in the Grant Hall hotel.

"There is no force on earth that can prevent Churchill and the Hay route being a great success. If you gentlemen do your part," Gen. Patterson stated, "Keep up the spirit of the organization and you will not regret the hard work of the past few years."

The port was characterized by the speaker as being one of the greatest factors in helping the country to come back. It was unfortunate that conditions at the present time were such that the wonderful send-off planned for the official opening would have to be curtailed somewhat, but he claimed the present was the time to get together and get the route working, even if it was on a smaller scale than was originally planned. Every ship that sailed into and out of the port would be an encouragement to others to do likewise, and in this manner freight and insurance costs would be cut.

There were no difficulties, Gen. Patterson said, and the more fog and darkness that could be lifted from the situation, the more rapidly would the route and the port develop. The facilities and all aids to navigation would be at the port by July.

Possibilities of tremendous development at Churchill and in the Churchill area were forewarned by Hon. D. G. McKeen, Winnipeg.

Mr. McKeen visualized the importance of the hay route and the port in the years to come and of the industries which may find a place in the economic life of the people who will live there.

His address pertained to the town site of Churchill and the opening of the port. The date of this would depend, he said, upon the Department of Railways and Canals at Ottawa who had control of affairs in connection with the port at the present time.

Opening his address, the speaker gave a description of the territory within 150 miles of the port. This was very level and covered with muskeg but with proper drainage, could be transferred into first class grazing land. At this point he visualized cattle being shipped to the territory and finished before being shipped to Great Britain and European ports.

Considerable work has already been done on the town site in the matter of clearing the land of rocks and leveling of hills. The result has been that the town is set on a southern slope with perfect drainage.

The task of protecting waterworks from frost was a rather difficult one and the matter of a winter water supply therefore was a problem. This, however, could be overcome, he said.

The town as a whole also presented a serious hazard for it was 500 miles from the nearest community and at certain times of the year strong winds from the bay were prevalent. This, however, could be overcome by the stipulation that all buildings be of fireproof construction and that houses be built of fire-resisting materials. There was plenty of stone and rock in the vicinity for this purpose, Mr. McKeen stated.

At the present time and probably for a few years to come, the government was not in favour of a heavy influx of people into the area but if these were to be left stranded in winter time, the government would have to take care of them or take them out of the territory.

World's Wheat Varieties

1200 Samples Of Seed To Be Shared By Manitoba And Saskatchewan Universities

A complete set of seed samples of the 3,700 varieties of the world's wheats, collected by Professor John Percival of Reading, England, author of the most authoritative book on wheat varieties, will be shared in the cereal departments of the University of Saskatchewan and Manitoba Agricultural College, Dr. J. P. Harrington announced.

The purpose of securing these seed samples is to have available all possible breeding material to breed new wheats answering the requirements of high yield, high quality, earliness, disease resistance and drought resistance.

In reply to the question whether work had been done to secure a wheat for the north country with the good qualities of Gaiety and without its defects, Dr. Harrington said that Edward-Garnet crosses had been made at the university, but that the work was not sufficiently advanced to announce any results at the present time.

King George Attends Quaint Annual Ceremony

Distribution Of Maudsley Money Was Once Elaborate Ritual

When he attended the distribution at Westminster Abbey of the royal Maudsley money the king witnessed a ceremony which no English sovereign has attended for a century or more. Distribution of the specially minted Maudsley money is now all that is left of the one-time elaborate ritual. The recipients were poor people drawn from all over England, totalling 47 men and 47 women, corresponding to the king's age, and the money distributed amounted to about $10 in lieu of provisions, and then 67 pence — or about $1.10 — which is the actual Maudsley money, and is worth considerably more than its face value when, as it generally is, it is sold to collectors.

To each recipient of the Maudsley money the king first handed a little red pouch containing the 50 shillings in the place of the oldtime provisions, and then handed to them a little white pouch containing the actual Maudsley money. This was in special commemoration of the king's age.

BABY FRETFUL, RESTLESS?

Look to this cause

When your baby fusses, fusses and seems unable to sleep peacefully, look for one common cause, doctors say. Constipation. To get rid quickly of the accumulated wastes which cause restlessness and discomfort, give a cleansing dose of Castoria. Castoria, you know, is made expressly for children's delicate needs. It is a pure vegetable preparation, contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics. It is so mild and gentle you can give it to a young infant to relieve colic. Yet it is as effective for older children. Castoria's regulative help will bring relaxed comfort and restful sleep to your baby. Keep a bottle on hand. Genuine Castoria always has the name:

Great Britain intends to proceed without deviation with its program for India. Sir Samuel Hoare told the House of Commons, and will not be deflected from "by threats of force or subliminal alarms."

The Family Physician. The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Relief-oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing infant, nursery pains and healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

A Difficult Test

Candidates for the post of ambassador in one American broadcasting company had to pass a test, one phase of which is "The settling-up account, and then the settling-up account, and then the settling-up account." Only ten of the 2,000 tested in the last two years received appointments.

Apparently Nuts Imported By Canada Come Principally From France, Spain and China

Nuts of all kinds imported into Canada in the fiscal year ended March 31, 1931, were valued at $3,608,141. Shelled walnuts comprised the principal item, totalling 4,806,662 pounds valued at $1,063,151. Of this total two and a half million pounds were brought in from China and nearly two million pounds from France. The most valuable nut import was of green almonds, shelled and unshelled, amounting to 25,325,421 pounds valued at $677,216. These come chiefly from China, imports in the last fiscal year totalling 21,097,728 pounds valued at $729,348. Spain furnishes most of the almond nuts imported, out of a total of almonds, not shelled, imported in the last fiscal year amounting to 921,504 pounds valued at $97,760. Spain supplied $29,924 pounds valued at $84,841, and out of a total of 1,727,243 pounds of shelled almonds valued at $441,131, Spain supplied 1,501,527 pounds valued at $361,504.

GOOD LOOKING HOME WEAR HELPS IMMENSELY MAKE KITCHEN CHORES EASY

Every woman knows she can't have too many home ensembles that will help her to do things and always come up smiling. And today's model is just lovely. The dress is suitable for the house, garden, porch, marketing, etc. And incidentally, it's decidedly slimming to the heavier build. It has a very becoming shimmering neckline. Then there is the diagonal big seam that gives a graceful width and flare to the hem.

And isn't the one-piece open at the back? And it won't slip off the shoulders either, for the suspender straps are useful besides being useful.

Design No. 910 includes the dress and the apron in sizes 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 25-inch contrasting.

Price of pattern 25 cents in stamps or coin, coin is preferred. Write coin carefully.

Progress In Africa

People Take Quickly To New Ideas For Advancement

Do not let us delude ourselves into thinking that the African will not in time demand his share of self-government as the Indian has done. Those who knew Africa in her old, untouched days are astonished at the rapidity with which new ideas are taking root, and every new school and road and trading store promotes more change. The very fact that the African starts from a lower level of culture than the Indian is capable of accentuating the rapidity and gravity of the change. He has no load of ancient civilization to drag behind him, no religious disputes, no caste of population fixed in the ruts of old habits and ingrained superstitions. The difference between his level and that of the alien whites is so great that he is inclined, once he makes the plunge, to abandon all his own distinctive ideas and to aim directly at a Europeanized culture.

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barefoot)

LEMON TARTS

(Serves 6-8)

- 1/2 cup quick-cooking tapioca.
- 3 cups boiling water.
- 1 teaspoon salt.
- 1/2 cup sugar.
- 1/2 cup lemon juice.
- 2 egg whites.

Combine the first four ingredients and cook 20 to 30 minutes. Remove lemon rind and add sugar and lemon juice. Beat egg whites stiff, fold them lightly in, fill thoroughly and serve in sherbet glasses.

BAKED ORANGE RELISH FOR MEAT

(Serves 6-8)

- 2 large oranges.
- 3 or 4 slices canned pineapple.
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon.
- 8 whole cloves.
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg.
- 1/2 cup pineapple juice.
- 1 cup sugar.
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Slice oranges thin, using skin and pulp. Cut up pineapple. Combine all ingredients and place in a glass or earthen baking dish. Bake in moderate oven for 2 to 2 1/2 hours. This is a delicious relish with meats.

Many Tourists

A total of 1,600-odd automobiles entered Canada from the United States in the calendar year 1930 for touring purposes, a decrease of 400-odd compared with 1929 according to a statement just issued by the Canadian Government Department of National Revenue. Of the total, 3,439,492 cars entered for a period not exceeding 24 hours; 1,499,753 for a period not exceeding 60 days and 744 for a period up to six months.

For Peace Of the Orient

China Needs a Stable Government In Order To Take Her Place In the World

A strong, stable government in China is necessary for the peace and well-being of the Orient, declared John M. Imrie, Edmonton, chairman of the trade mission of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, in an address to the Board of Trade in Calgary. Mr. Imrie based his remarks on the visit to the Orient of the Trade Mission recently.

Conditions in China, a mighty people lacking co-ordination, were pictured by Mr. Imrie, who also gave sidelights on the conflict between Japan and China. Japan, declared Mr. Imrie, believed the boycott by Chinese of Japanese goods was tantamount to war, although boycott was not recognized as such by the League of Nations or any of the peace pacts since its existence.

Racial antagonism, Japan's economic need of Manchuria, instability of the Chinese Government, instability of Japan's political influence at Mukden and Japanese fear of new Russian penetration of Manchuria were among the causes which Mr. Imrie believed brought about the present conflict between Japan and China. Recent rise of nationalism in China, he said, was another cause, and it had reflection in strong anti-foreign feeling against other nations as well as Japan.

With a stable government, China would be an important nation of the world, and matters of trade with every other nation would be greatly advanced and Canada as well as the other nations would benefit.

A Rare Chemical

Phosphagen Found To Supply Energy To Muscles

A rare chemical, which gives speed to muscles and may be the essence of skill, was described in a report to the American Chemical Society by Dr. Adams Dutcher, Pennsylvania State College.

The chemical is phosphagen and is secreted by the body. It is a combination of phosphoric acid and creatine, the latter a body protein product.

Phosphagen supplies to certain muscles the energy to contract. But it is something more than mere energy, for apparently some muscles have no phosphagen and it is found most abundantly in highly-specialized, rapidly-contracting muscles.

The new uses of cotton were presented by H. J. Skinner, president of Skinner and Sherman, of Boston, Mass.

"Recently," he said, "much publicity has been given to experiments at the University of North Carolina, which, if successful, might revolutionize the cotton industry. Some time back a noted authority on forestry and lumbering asserted that he expected to see the time when cotton would be grown for its own cellulose content and not for its lint value, and it is upon this premise that the University of North Carolina experiments are based.

The experiments propose to grow cotton like hay or wheat and harvest the whole plant with a mowing machine."

A new "lingering" anaesthetic, which continues to kill pain after an operation but has no habit-forming power, was reported to the society.

Persian Babu is magical in creating lasting complexion. A little gentle rubbing and your skin is invigorated and touched with the true beauty of youth. Charmingly fragrant. Delightful to use. Hardly Worth Speaking About

If you have a good imagination, try and imagine what the newly discovered neutron, a part of an atom and of great importance to science, looks like. Detroit Plans To Reform Debt

Totalling $81,000,000

Declaring it the only way the life savings and property of many of Detroit's citizens can be saved, Mayor Frank Murphy announced recently that he would seek the co-operation of the city's banker-creditors in a refunding of some $31,000,000 in government and maturity charges due this year.

If the plan is agreed upon, the mayor said, it will mean a substantial reduction in the city's $76,000,000 tax levy for 1932. If it fails, he said, an increase in the tax rate of nearly $3 for each $100 valuation is imminent. The property tax rate for the current fiscal year is $22.65 for $1,000 valuation.

No more dusting for me!

at least not with old-fashioned dust cloths. I've found a better way.

Thousands of Canadian women know that her "better way" is the Apollon Wonder Paper. Made from clean rags and soft paper pulp scientifically treated with high-grade furniture polish, it dusts—as it cleans—as it polishes.

Wonder Paper is changing the old-established order of housecleaning. One neat package of it appeals more to women than yards of old rags that spread dirt and constantly need washing to be sanitary.

You get twenty-five sheets of Wonder Paper for a quarter. Simply crumple a sheet into a soft ball, go over the furniture, woodwork, and the floors. The results are a delight. In half the time and with half the effort, you get a necessary task done far more satisfactorily.

And when you're through, throw away the piece of Wonder Paper. No shaking out, or washing, or dusters. Certainly you ought to try Wonder Paper.

Her voice wavered uncertainly. The realization of his intent had come upon her so unexpectedly, rousing her from her placid unconsciousness, that she felt stunned, nervously undecided to deal with the situation. She struggled a little, instinctively, but he only laughed down at her, a ring of amatorial triumph in his voice, holding her effortlessly, with all the ease of his immense strength.

"It's no good, Jean. You've got to hear me out. I've waited long enough." He paused, then drew a deep breath. "I love you!" he said slowly. "My God, how I love you!"

"There was an element of wrong in his tones, and she felt the strong hands gripping her tremble a little. Then their clasp tightened and he drew her towards him.

"Say you love me," he demanded. "Say it!"

It was then Jean found her voice. The impetuous demand, infringing on that secret, inner claim of which she alone knew, stung her into quick denial.

"But I don't! I don't love you!" Then, as she saw the light look in his eyes, she went on hastily: "Oh, Geoffrey, I am so sorry. I never guessed I never thought of your caring."

"You never guessed! Good God!"—with a harsh laugh. "I should have thought I'd made it plain enough. Why, even that first day, on the river, I wanted you then. What do you suppose has brought me to Stople every day? Affection for Blaise Torment?" cynically.

"I thought I thought—" she cut herself in her mind for an answer, then presented him with the simple truth. "I'm afraid I never thought about it at all. I just took you coming over for granted. I knew you and Judith were old friends and old friends, so it seemed quite natural for me to be here when just as Claire Latimer is."

Burke searched her face for a moment. He was thinking of the other woman he had known, whom he would never have remained blind to his meaning, who had indeed, shown their willingness to come halfway more than halfway, to meet him.

"I really believe that's true," he said at last, grudgingly. "But if it is, you're the most unselfish woman I've ever come across."

"Of course it's true," she replied.

simply. "I'm—I'm so sorry, Geoffrey. I like you far too much to have wished to hurt you."

"I don't want liking. I want your love. And I mean to have it. You may not have understood before, Jean, but you do now."

She drew herself away from him a little.

"What doesn't make any difference, Geoffrey. I have no love to give you," she said quietly.

He shook his head.

"I won't take no," he said doggedly. "You're the woman I want. And I mean to have you. . . . Don't you understand? It's no use fighting against me. You may say no, now; you may say no fifty times. But one day you'll say—yes."

Jean's slight frame trembled.

"You are mistaken," she said, in a chill, clear voice calculated to set immeasurable space between them. "I'm not a cave woman to be forced into marriage. Oh!" the ludicrous side of this imperious kind of wooing striking her suddenly—"don't be so absurd, Geoffrey! You can't seize me by the hair and carry me off to your own particular hole in the rocks, you know." She began to laugh a little. "Let's just go on being good friends and forget that this has ever happened."

She held out her hand, but he took no notice of the little friendly gesture. There was a red gleam in his eyes, a smouldering glow that needed but a breath to fan it into flame.

"You speak as if it were something that was over and done with," he said in a low, tense voice. "But it isn't; it never shall be. I love you and want you, and I shall go on loving you and wanting you as long as I live. Jean—sweetest"—his voice suddenly softened incredibly—"I'll try to be more gentle. But when a man loves as I do, he doesn't stop to choose his words." He stepped closer to her. "Oh! You little, little thing! Why, I could pick you up and carry you off to my cave with two fingers. Jean, when will you marry me?"

His big frame towered beside her. He paid no more attention to her distrustful of him than if she had not spoken, and she was conscious of an odd feeling of impotence.

"You don't seem to have understood me," she said forcing herself to speak composedly. "If I loved you, you'd have no need to carry me off to your cave. I'd come—gladly. . . . But I don't love you, Geoffrey. And I shall never marry a man I don't love."

"You'll marry me," he returned stubbornly. "Do you think I'm going to give you up so easily? If you do, you're mistaken. I love you, and I'll teach you to love me—when you're my wife."

The two pairs of eyes met, a challenging defiance flashing between them. Jean struggled her shoulders.

"I think you must be mad," she said contemptuously, and turned to leave him.

In the same instant his hands gripped her shoulders and he swung her round facing him again.

"Mad!" he exclaimed harshly. "Yes, I am mad mad for you. You little cold thing! Do you know what I'm a man's love?"

She felt his arms close round her like a vice of steel, lifting her off her feet, so that she hung helpless in his embrace. For a moment his eyes burned down into hers, the hot flames of desire that blazed in them seeming ready to scorch her. Then, he had hidden his face against the warm white curve of her throat, where a little frightened pulse throbbed tentatively. Then, as though the touch of her snapped the last link of his self-control, his mouth sought hers, and he was kissing her, savagely crushing her soft, winning lips beneath his own. Her slender body swayed helpless as a reed in his strong grip, while the tide of his passion, like a surging, fierce, unquenchable flood, swept over her resistlessly.

When at last he released her, she stood back from him, rocking a little instinctively he stretched out his hand to steady her.

"Don't—touch me!" she panted.

The words came driven between clenched teeth chokingly. Her face was milk-white and her eyes blazed at him out of his pallor. She felt as if her heart were beating in her throat, stifling her, and for a little space sheer physical stress held her silent. But she fought it back, asserting her will against her weakness.

"How dare you?" There was bitter anger in her own tones. "How dare you touch me—like that?"

You said it!

With a swift movement she passed her handkerchief across her lips and then let it fall on the ground as though it were something unclean. He winced at the gesture, for a moment the passion died out of his face and a rueful look, almost of schoolboy shame, took its place.

"Do you—feel like that about it?" he said, nodding towards the handkerchief.

"Just like that," she returned. "Do you think if I had known—I would ever have risked being alone with you? But I thought we were friends—I never dreamed I couldn't trust."

"Well, you can't," he said unsteadily. The sight of her slender, defiant figure and lovely, tilted face, with the scornful lips he had just kissed shoving like a scarlet stain against his whiteness, sent the blood rioting through his veins once more. "You'll . . . you'll never be able to trust any man who loves you, Jean."

Her thoughts flew to Blaise. She could trust herself with him now, at any time, always. But then, perhaps the afterthought came like a knife-thrust—perhaps he did not care! "A man who—loved me," she said oddly, "would not do what you've just done."

"He would sooner or later. Unless his veins ran milk and water!" He drew a step nearer and stood staring down at her somberly. "Do you know what you're like, I wonder? With your great golden eyes and your maddening mouth and that little cleft in your white chin. . . . You're angry because I kissed you. I wonder I didn't do it before! I've wanted to, dozens of times. But I wanted your love more than a jossing kiss. I've waited for that waited all these weeks. And now you refuse it—you've not even understood that you're all earth and heaven to me. God! How blind you must have been!"

She was silent. Her anger was waning, giving place to a certain distressful comprehension of the mighty force which had suddenly broken bondage in the man beside her. Doubt, from her own knowledge of the yearning bred of the loved one's nearness, she envisaged what these last weeks must have meant to a man of Burke's temperament. Was it any wonder when suddenly made to realize that the woman he loved not only did not love him in return, but had failed even to sense his love for her, that his stormy spirit had rebelled—flung off its shackles? An element of self-reproach fractured her thoughts. In a measure the fault had been hers, her self-absorption was to blame. (To Be Continued.)

Little Helps For This Week

"Is not this the carpenter, the son of Mary?" Mark vi. 3.

A lesson, Lord, those eighteen years to me; Not elsewhere I could so devoutly learn.

That humble tasks are best, however I learn.

For higher spheres where I may work more free.

Best were those patient, toiling years, to Thee.

Their secret kept within Thy bosom by heart.

While Thou wast trained by daily skill of art.

To build new worlds for human destiny.

Thy future was the Now. Thine from its height.

Thine eye read meanings in the passing day.

If Cross of Death cast shadows on Thy way.

What sun was that so darkened in his light?

O Nazarene, out of these tolls there came.

That which we prize most dear, in Brother's Name!

A. A. Lipscomb.

Christ did not want higher occasions than the Father gave Him. The grand mission of His mission was that the humblest spheres gave the greatest weight and dignity to principles. He was the good carpenter, sewing the world. Rightly viewed, there are no small occasions in this world, as in our haste we too often think. Great principles, principles sacred even to God, are at stake in every moment of life. God prescribes our duty, and it were wrong not to believe that

If we undertake God's real work, He will furnish us to it, and give us pleasure in it.—Horace Bushnell.

Control Of Nerves

Living Nerves Can Be Switched Like Telegraph Nerves

Zoological proof that living nerves can be switched like telegraph wires was presented to the American Association of Anatomists meeting in New York.

If the nerve naturally controlling a muscle is destroyed, another nerve can be substituted by operation, and will operate the muscle very well.

These switches have been made and their success verified at Yale University in the Osborn Zoological Laboratory. Donald H. Barron, who conducted the experiments, reported them to the anatomists.

WHEN FOOD SOURS

ABOUT two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, just a tablespoon dissolved in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. Results come almost instantly. It is the same as a strong dose. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, prescribed by physicians for correcting excess acids. Ask a health food store.

The ideal diet for clean teeth and healthy gums is Phillips' Dental Magnesia, a superior tooth-paste that safeguards against acid-mouth. (Made in Canada.)

Westcott Notes.

Westcott W.I. met at the home of Mrs. Wm. Dageforde on Thursday, May 5th. There was a goodly number turned out, and the afternoon was spent quilting a quilt for the W.I. fall bazaar, after which the business meeting was held. It was decided to hold a picnic at the Charles Vogel place on Saturday, May 28th. Everybody is welcome and asked to bring lunch baskets. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem, and lunch was served by the hostess.

RUGBY NOTES

With thirteen members and three visitors in attendance, Rugby W.I. met at the home of Mrs. C. Brown for the monthly meeting. After necessary business was concluded, "Current Events" were taken up by the secretary. Following these, the agricultural convener, Mrs. D. Evans took charge of the program, giving a very good and comprehensive paper on "Gardening," which was followed, appropriately, by a contest along these lines, the prizewinners being Mrs. A. Hogg, Mrs. A. Krebs and Mrs. Hughes. Plant slips were exchanged among the members. A nice collection of seeds, together with a cash donation is to be sent to Mrs. Ferguson for distribution in dried-out districts. The meeting adjourned in the usual manner and lunch was served. The June meeting will convene at the home of Mrs. G. Carlson.

Burnside Notes.

Everybody in busy seeding.

Miss Dorothy Cipperey is spending this week at her home here.

Miss Marie Siddon spent a day last week visiting her friend, Sadie McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Eckel and Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Thompson went to Calgary on Saturday to attend the funeral of an old friend, Mrs. Elizabeth Mayes.

Melvin Notes

Mr. and Mrs. E. Cowitz spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Krebs'.

Miss Beatrice and Sarah Lundeen were Sunday guests of Miss Gladys Carlson.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Youngs and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. T. Duncan.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Clarke were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. John Clarke.

A number of farmers in this district will finish seeding this week. About 75 per cent of the seeding is done.

Misses Marion and Ruth Johnston, Ranold Johnston and Hugh Morton spent Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ruby.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Irwin and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Johnston were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hayes.

We are sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. Clarence Bolton, and we sincerely hope she will soon be able to be around again.

Mr. H. Lynch-Staunton spent the week-end visiting relatives in Calgary.

Construction of a new bridge over the Elbow drive at a cost of $170,000, construction of a swimming pool at a cost of $30,000, paving of the Seventeenth avenue west hill, paving of the Bowness road, and construction of the Fourth street west subway, may be undertaken by the city of Calgary in order to provide work for married unemployed taxpayers, it became known Saturday morning.

WEEKLY JOKE

Bill: "He put on speed thinking he could beat the train to it."

Will: "Did he get across?"

Bill: "He will as soon as the timetable maker gets through with it."

Mountain View Notes

The monthly meeting of the W.I. will be held in Community Hall the 3rd Thursday as usual.

Several farmers have been hauling gasoline from Turner Valley and a report is abroad that the wells are closing down. The roads were closed for several days after the storm.

Mothers' Day was observed on Sunday last throughout the Dominion. No doubt that many, whose mothers have "passed on," remembered them and thought of the lines:

Hundreds of stars in the silent sky,
Hundreds of lambs amongst the clover;

Hundreds of bees go flitting by,
But only one mother the wide world over.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.I.G.C. took place at the home of Mrs. Ed. Barnes on Saturday, May 7th. The president, Miss Nita Wilson occupied the chair and after the business session, gave a very interesting demonstration on "How to Set a Dinner Table," which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. A pleasing feature of the afternoon was a presentation to Mrs. E. Blain for her untiring efforts in helping along the Club in a most practical manner, having aided greatly in the making of a quilt recently started. Lunch was served and a vote of thanks given to Mrs. Barnes. The next meeting will be held June 4th at Community Hall when it is hoped to have Mrs. Hoesgood present.
